15/07/2020 · What is machine learning? Machine learning is a branch of artificial intelligence (AI) and computer science which focuses on the use of data and algorithms to imitate the way that humans learn, gradually improving its accuracy.. IBM has a rich history with machine learning. One of its own, Arthur Samuel, is credited for coining the term “machine learning” with his ... A learning curve is a graphical representation of the relationship between how proficient someone is at a task and the amount of experience they have. Proficiency (measured on the vertical axis) usually increases with increased experience (the horizontal axis), that is to say, the more someone performs a task, the better their performance at the task. In probability theory, the Chernoff bound gives exponentially decreasing bounds on tail distributions of sums of independent random variables. Despite being named after Herman Chernoff, the author of the paper it first appeared in, the result is due to Herman Rubin. It is a sharper bound than the known first- or second-moment-based tail bounds such as Markov's ...
