Grenada Lake - 7/26/2022 4:11:14 PM Species Detail Bass Fish shallow (topwaters, spinnerbaits) early and late in the day or at night. Midday, fish main lake points (any cover is a plus), humps, and flooded roadbeds 6 to 14 ft deep with soft plastics, bladed jigs, crankbaits, or spinnerbaits. Crappie Collins' Bait Shop (662)226-3581 reports fish have been caught lately drifting or trolling jigs and/or minnows or crankbaits (shad or pink) 12 - 15 ft deep in 15 - 20 ft of water in the lower end of the main lake or just up in the main river arms. Otherwise, fish standing timber along river and creek channels, creek mouths, or over other cover (brush tops, stake beds, etc.). Use bigger baits and fish deeper to target larger crappie. Replace treble hooks with single hooks and/or pinch down the barbs to make releasing short fish faster and less damaging; it does no good to release dead fish. Bream Fish crickets or redworms 4 - 6 ft under a bobber near any cover. Catfish Fish natural baits in the rivers and creeks if there is rainfall runoff. Otherwise, fish main lake flats with rod-and-reel, jugs (noodles), or trotlines with various natural baits. Channel cats should hit worms under a bobber fished over riprap. White Bass Fish jigs, spinners, or small crankbaits over sandy main lake points early AM or late PM. The main point between the two rivers is a prime spot. There are no size or number limits on white bass. Recent rainfall has barely kept up with evaporation and required minimum gate flow. There is a better chance of rain this week. Check water level trends; except for catfish, fishing is usually better on a slow fall than a fast rise. Water falling, fish deeper; water rising, fish shallower. Species Type Length To Release Crappie (combined black and white) Minimum Length Limit 12 inches and under Statewide creel and size limits apply to all other fish species. Type Amount Additional Information Crappie (combined black and white) 15 There is a 40 crappie per boat limit for boats with 3 or more anglers. Anglers may use no more than 4 poles per person and no more than 2 hooks or lures per pole. The spillway had one gate open 0.5 ft (128 cfs) Tuesday. The gates are releasing minimum flow for the river below. Fishing is better in the spillway when some water is being released, but not too much. Fishing down here has been spotty; some days have been better than others. For catfish, fish minnows (live or freshly dead) or other natural baits near the bottom under a slip-cork to keep the bait out of the rocks. Crappie have been caught early and late in the day fishing jugs and/or minnows under a bobber along the rocks or in the old river run. Quite a few bass have been landed lately, fish crankbaits or spinnerbaits along the rocks; the rock point near the pier and old river run is a good spot. Spillway gate openings, flow rates, and spillway water levels can be obtained at (662)226-5911 or check at ☛ or ☛click on 24-hour change for picture explanation of gate flow, spillway flow, etc.). Be sure to check the date on the table; it is usually updated midday. All fish captured and kept with dip or landing nets, cast nets, boat mounted scoops, wire baskets, minnow seines, and minnow traps in the spillway areas bordered by rip rap must be immediately placed on ice or in a dry container. Game fish caught with these gears must be released. This regulation was enacted to reduce the potential of transferring harmful Asian carps to the reservoir or other waters. The 12-inch crappie length limit does not apply to the reservoir spillway, but the spillway has a 15-crappie creel limit. Water level 214.53, stable, 0.5 ft below rule curve Tuesday. The water level is supposed to be maintained at summer pool (215 ft) from May 1 until August 1. Expect rapid water level rises and drawdowns as rain events happen and the Corps tries to achieve and maintain the rule curve. Emergency spillway level is 231.0. For water level information, call (662)226-5911 or check at for a table or for a graph or for both (click on 24-hour change for picture explanation of gate flow, spillway flow, etc.). Be sure to check the date on the table; it is usually updated midday. Additional Information Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries, and Parks Fisheries Biologists use various sampling methods to assess the fish populations in the State's waters. Sampling results for selected water bodies are summarized in Reel Facts Sheets. Grenada Lake, Mississippi Fishing on Mississippi's Grenada Lake has an almost cult-like following of recreational and crappie tournament fishermen. It's known for its huge slab crappie. Not many lakes can compare and this lake has been named the top crappie lake in the country numerous times. The lake produces crappie all year long, is a topic of conversation among any serious crappie anglers and gets all sorts of labels and comparisons. But no other compliment is higher or more accurate than one it's gotten the last few years. Anglers have started calling it the "Holy Grail" of crappie fishing. Endorsements don't get much better than that. When it comes to slab crappie, Grenada has earned that reputation. If there is another lake that produces more three pound plus crappie than this 35,000 acre flood control lake three miles north of Grenada, Mississippi, it would be hard to prove. An example of that came in a tournament not too long ago when there were 13 fish weighed in that topped the scales over three pounds. Some of these slabs are almost three inches across the back. That's a slab. While a two pound crappie is the standard on most lake, it takes a three-pounder to get much attention here. The lake was formed by construction of a dam on the Yalobusha River and like other flood control reservoirs in this area, it stays full most of the year, but is lowered to less than half its normal pool stage in the winter to help manage spring flooding in the area. The lake usually reaches winter pool, about 20 feet lower from the highest levels in the spring, around the first week in December. The best time to fish Grenada for the big slabs is spring when the fish are spawning and full of eggs, and that is also when they move into more shallow water and are easier to pinpoint. The best time to catch big numbers is usually in the Fall, when the lake is being drawn down slowly. The falling water concentrates baitfish and crappie schools. Grenada Lake Fishing Shiners, plastic and hair jigs all work well here all the time. Fish concentrate in deeper channels and in the deeper areas near the dam as water cools into winter. The major channel areas are great places to find them. There isn't a lot of natural cover, so the fish resort to man-made tops or structures placed in the lake and to the numerous changes in bottom contour. Having good electronics is a necessity to finding and staying on fish this time of year as fish gorge themselves for the coming winter. There are several reasons Grenada is so good for crappie. First, the water fluctuation and water quality enhance a large shad base that keeps crappie well fed and growing. Second, the lake is managed as a trophy crappie lake. While many anglers fish just for food and keep almost any size crappie, this lake has a 12-inch limit on keeper crappie, giving the fish a chance to grow up and grow big. Fish shorter than that must be released immediately after being caught. Lake managers say it's like growing trophy deer. The longer they have to get big, the bigger they get. If you make a trip here, it will help to get as much information from local fishermen and bait shops as you can to help narrow your search. The Grenada Lake Visitor Center is the perfect starting point for your visit to Grenada Lake. Grenada Lake has two main areas named after the rivers that were flooded, the Skuna and the Yalobusha. Both of these areas produce a lot of fish, even though most fishermen choose the largest of the two, the Yalobusha. Largemouth bass fishing draws many anglers to the lake. Good numbers of bass can be caught in three to ten feet of water around cover early in the year. Buzz baits are also good. As the spawn ends and bass move to deeper points, larger crank baits and Texas-rigged worms work well. By this time, the water is usually very clear, so light line helps you get more strikes. Fishing around the many rock-lined areas also produces bass much of the year. Trolling is a good way to catch white bass in this lake. Spoons and small shad-like crank baits work the best. Jigs also work over the sandy points early and late. Catfishing is good on the old river channels on night crawlers, cold worms or stink baits. For bream, spawning fish are caught in a lot of firm-bottom areas such as old roads and some low-water parking lots that get inundated later in the area. There are also a lot of sunken brush tops and flats that hold big bluegills. Hugh White State Park The Hugh White State Park has excellent facilities and even has an 18-hole golf course on the lake's southwestern shore. The U.S.Army Corps of Engineers Park on the North shore also has excellent access and amenities. The lake is in a rural area about two hours north of Jackson, Mississippi just off Interstate 55.
